Research Expertise

Riyana (Mira) Miranti joined NATSEM in October 2007. As a socio-economist, she has a strong research interest in the research areas related to social wellbeing and equity particularly focusing on the issues of disadvantage and wellbeing including poverty, social exclusion and inequality affecting children, youth, older people and other groups of population. Mira has two countries of specialisation, Australia and Indonesia.

Mira has been working extensively under several Australian Research Council (ARC) grants which focus much on children and youth wellbeing at the spatial level, including the ARC Discovery - Opportunity and Disadvantage: Differences in wellbeing among Australian Adults and ARC Discovery - Children and Child and Youth Social Exclusion in Australia at a small area level which explore the multidimensional measures of wellbeing. She has been one of the key researchers who developed the Child and Youth Social Exclusion Index at small area level in Australia. She led research about social exclusion among older adults, contributions and challenges of Australian migrants and also small area inequality in Australia. She was a Chief Investigator for an ARC Linkage project which analyses workforce vulnerabilities amongst mature aged Australians (the project finished at the end of 2015).

In addition, Mira has continuously worked extensively in the area of economic development for Southeast Asia, particularly for Indonesia. She pioneered the Indonesian related research activities at NATSEM/IGPA. Mira is currently a Convenor of Indonesian Program at IGPA for both education and research, actively promotes IGPA activities by engaging with key stakeholders covering both academic and policy makers in Indonesia. Prior to her PhD, she worked as a Research Associate at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) in Singapore. Mira has also led many applied commissioned research projects on Indonesian economic development issues for various international agencies including the USAID, UNESCO, OECD and the ADB, particularly in the areas of poverty, inequality and social protection for children.
