Foreign Policy

2007-2010 is a remarkable period in Australian history and Chris Roberts and Andrew Carr will provide an overview of the Rudd Government’s foreign policy as covered in the book ‘The Rudd Government: Australian Commonwealth Administration 2007-2010’. As well as discuss how the current administration is handling issues brought up in the chapter.

The Rudd Government has been produced by the ANZSOG Institute for Governance at the University of Canberra. It is the tenth in a series of books on successive Commonwealth administrations. Each volume has provided a chronicle and commentary of major events, policies and issues that have dominated successive administrations since 1983. As with previous volumes in the series, contributors have been drawn from a range of universities and other organizations.

This will be the third in a series of discussions on the book by the various contributors. This volume is the first e-publication in the series and readers have the opportunity to download individual chapters and even, the entire volume - http://epress.anu.edu.au/rudd_citation.html.
